Dear Jay:

There is being delivered to you as an Xmas present from us an old two piece electric coin changer. You will have to supply the change which will be easy from all of the coins coming in to the store. It is a duplicate from our collection.

I want to caution you that I have not checked either it or my retained item electrically as their insulation may be deteriorated or damaged. Whoever plugs it in should be very careful or someone who knows how not to blow a fuse or shock himself or herself. The two elements plug into each other first as you can see.

Have fun with it and I hope it works without incident.

Have a pleasant holiday.
